

Updated assessments, competency and exam certifications for 2021

Worldwide, business is moving to the cloud. We're focused on supporting you through this shift to a thriving cloud-based economy by ensuring you have the latest technical skills to meet your customers' needs. With that in mind, we're retiring several assessments, exams and certifications and introducing new ones that are eligible for competency attainment and renewal.

See how updated exams and certifications impact your competency

Review the following table carefully and check Microsoft regularly to make sure you meet all current requirements for competency attainment and renewal. Updated exam requirements are available only in Partner Center. If your organization has not migrated from Partner Membership Center (PMC) to Partner Center, you'll need to do so before you can attain or renew your competency. If you have questions or need support, contact us.

Retiring and new exams and certifications as of January 31, 2021*

Exams and certifications retiring on January 31, 2021, will remain eligible for competency attainment and renewal until January 31, 2022, if taken before they are retired.

Retiring assessments and new exams and certifications as of December 31, 2020

Assessments retiring on December 31, 2020, will remain eligible for competency attainment and renewal until December 31, 2021, if taken before they are retired.

**This excludes Microsoft 365 Certified: Teamwork Administrator Associate exam for the Collaboration and Content competency – please see below for details.*

Please note that the exam changes will be reflected in Partner Center by May 2020.
