

Four key elements for building a successful hybrid workplace

A hybrid workplace model is emerging. Technological solutions from Microsoft can help companies create environments that offer connection, collaboration, choice, and control.

Connection

Empower employees to connect

Reduce meeting fatigue, increase engagement in virtual calls, and create an environment in which everyone feels like they have a seat at the table.

Collaboration

Give people better tools to collaborate

Modern devices have functional, flexible collaboration tools built in, which work seamlessly with critical business apps, so that employees can work together from anywhere.

Choice

Choice lets people work their way

When employees can choose the device that meets their needs, you can see a real impact in both productivity and employee satisfaction.

Control

Maintain control to keep information safe

The ability to securely manage devices remotely is vital to business continuity and can mean significant time and cost savings for IT.

A hybrid workplace is an investment. Businesses that choose Microsoft Surface and Microsoft 365 see a real return on investment (ROI):¹

Invest in the right technology with modern devices and secure solutions from Microsoft.
